LESTER G. HORNBY

1911

Extract from Chicago Record Herald, April 25, 1909.

The little descriptive scenes, either of the street or of the least frequented of nature's camping grounds, are expressed with much sympathy and knowledge. Sketches of but a very few lines render vigorous bits of character delineation. Versatility, too, is a notable element of the exhibition. Whether in Tunis, Paris or quiet old England, something of the spirit of the place is imbibed to the extent that the artist seems to live the scenes over again as actually as the natives have for centuries past.

MR. HORNBY is represented in the foremost collections of America and Europe, including:

Library of Congress, Washington

New York Public Library

Boston Public Library

The Fine Art Society, London

Galerie Ernst Arnold, Dresden

and the

Salon des Artistes Francaise, Paris
